A MEMORY WORTH KEEPING

An August day in the Cairngorms.

Ben Macdui and Cairngorm with the family - an August memory we shared on 8 October. Start with the original photographs, then save the places and planning links for another day.

FOR ANOTHER DAY

Plan your own visit.

A few useful checks before choosing where to go.

01 Check the conditions.

Read the official mountain report and the ranger service's current advice. Access and opening arrangements can change.

02 Choose a walk for your group.

The National Park's paths and trails page lists graded walks and current alerts. It is a useful place to find a shorter alternative.

03 Prepare for the mountain part.

Cairngorm Mountain's walking information covers local trails and preparation beyond the ski area. Check the route, conditions and your group's experience.

The resort area map covers its own area. These notes are a companion to our family album; use a suitable detailed map for your own mountain plan.
